

BE A BLESSING TO YOUR GRIEVING FRIEND

Lynne Hoeksema
lynne@lynnehoeksema.com
itsbeyondme.blog
lynnehoeksema.com

ARE YOU:

- Afraid you will do or say the wrong thing?
- Worried you don't have the gift of compassion?
- Concerned that you're not a nurturer?

LEARN:

- What the Bible says about having compassion for others.
- How sanctification plays a key role.
- What deep grieving looks and feels like.
- Practical advice on what is helpful and what isn't.

"I certainly didn't expect to have what I heard touch my heart to the depth it did. I understood so little about the grieving process and the needs of those grieving. Everything I have done before was turned upside down. What I learned will help me serve others much more effectively."

"I really appreciated the practical suggestions on what can be helpful, and what isn't so much."

"Thank you for reminding us that we don't always have to have the right words, we just have to be willing to be there and listen."

"Lynne told us things that we don't want to ask, but need to know."

Lynne speaks openly about what she experienced after the death of her husband of 31 years. That experience led her to a ministry and a desire to help you navigate the tricky waters of walking through grief with others. Because, who doesn't want to be a blessing to their friends? Her "behind the scenes" perspective and practical knowledge will give you the confidence to step out in faith and bless someone in their time of need.

Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. Galatians 6:2